Por F. Sales, Instructor de Frances y Español en la Universidad de Harvard, Cambridge. 18mo. pp. 216. Boston. Munroe & Francis.

As a primary book for students in Spanish, this little volume seems to offer every facility, that can be desired. It is composed of short pieces, selected from the best Spanish writers, and calculated to develop the principles of the language gradually, and in a manner to lay a solid foundation for a mature knowledge of its more difficult forms.

'The first object contemplated,' says Mr Sales, 'in making this compilation of Spanish extracts with English Explanations at the bottom of each piece, has been to render the knowledge of that language easy to the student, and the task of instructing less arduous to the teacher. The only requisite preparation to enable any one to translate this book will be, committing to memory the declensions of nouns and pronouns, the auxiliary and impersonal verbs in Josse's Spanish Grammar.

'The second object of this compilation is, to facilitate the reading of Spanish by accenting every word, that can produce the least hesitation in the minds of learners, in regard to its proper pronunciation.

'The Spanish language is extremely easy to pronounce; all the letters are sounded, and the only difficulty that occurs to the student in reading is, to ascertain the place where to lay the accent. This difficulty, teachers well know to their great vexation, is increased by the careless manner in which Spanish imported books are corrected.'

All that can be done to remove this obstacle, has been accomplished by Mr Sales in this book. He has presented distinctly the few simple rules of pronunciation, and bestowed unwearied pains in giving accuracy to the mechanical part of the accents. This kind of labor, as he observes, 'does not produce to him who performs it an honor corresponding with its wearisomeness, but it will not be the less useful in aiding the study of the Spanish, and it will be fully estimated by those for whom it was intended. The volume may be safely recommended as the best, which can now be obtained in our book-stores, for the primary lessons in the Spanish language.

The subject of this report is too important and extensive to be considered, except in an elaborate manner. At present we have no room for such an examination, but to those who would be acquainted with the effects of interment in populous cities, and its probable influence on health, this report will present a large mass of facts, derived from various sources, and the opinions of eminent men.

Atlantic Souvenir; a Christmas and New Year's Offering, for 1826. 18mo. pp. 354. Philadelphia. Carey & Lea.

This beautiful little volume has come into our hands too late for a suitable notice in the present number. It consists of short pieces in prose and verse, wholly from the pens of American authors of the first eminence, and chiefly on subjects of taste and fancy. The volume contains several highly finished engravings, and is in its whole appearance an elegant specimen of art as well as of taste.

An Address pronounced at the opening of the New York Athenæum, December 14, 1824. By Henry Wheaton. Second Edition. New York. J. W. Palmer. 8vo. pp. 62.

This beautiful edition of Mr Wheaton's Address is highly creditable to the New York press. It is refreshing to meet with so handsome a specimen of typography, after the numerous examples of wretched printing, which have recently come in our way. In this instance the printer's style of execution is worthy of the subject, and we are glad to see sentiments so sound in themselves, and so encouraging to our literary progress, clothed in an external dress so well corresponding to their intrinsic value.

An Oration, pronounced at New Haven, before the Connecticut Alpha of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, September 13th, 1825. By James Gould. 8vo. pp. 31. New Haven. T. G. Woodward & Co.

Leisure Hours at Sea; being a few Miscellaneous Poems. By a Midshipman of the United States Navy. New York.

POLITICS.

A Register of Debates in Congress, comprising the leading Debates and Incidents of the Second Session of the Eighteenth Congress; together with an Appendix, containing the most important State Papers and Public Documents to which the Session has given Birth. To which are added, the Laws enacted during the Session; with a copious Index to the whole. Extra royal 8vo. pp. 512. Washington, D. C. Gales & Seaton.

Carta de Benigno Morales, por Felix Megia. 8vo. pp. 172. Filadelfia.

The Speeches, Addresses, and Messages of the several Presidents of the United States, at the Openings of Congress, and at their respective Inaugurations. Also, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, and Washington's Farewell Address to his Fellow Citizens. 8vo. pp. 536. Philadelphia. Robert Desilver.

The plan of this book is a good one, and the documents it contains render it useful and convenient in every library. The constitutions of each state, and the governors' speeches from the commencement of the state governments, printed in the same manner, would also be a desirable work, and easily compiled. Whether it would not be too voluminous to command a ready sale, is a question to be determined by previous inquiry.

VOYAGES AND TRAVELS.

A Journal of a Tour around Hawaii, the largest of the Sandwich Islands. By a Deputation from the Mission on those Islands. 12mo. pp. 264. Boston. Crocker & Brewster.

The improvements, which have taken place among the inhabitants of the Society Islands and the Sandwich Islands, during the last twenty years, are among the remarkable events of the age. It is a new thing in the history of man, for savages to be civilised and christianised by direct efforts. In these islands, indeed, the problem, whether such an effect could be produced at all, has been solved for the first time. When Cook visited the inhabitants of these islands, few of the human family were more degraded in morals and intellect; but now, by the exertions of missionaries residing among them, and by their intercourse with people from civilised parts of the world, they have become acquainted with many of the arts of life and practise them, they have learnt reading and writing, abolished idolatry, reformed their governments, and are rapidly establishing institutions calculated to secure and increase their social improvement and happiness.

The tour around the island of Hawaii, or Owhyhee, (the island on which Captain Cook was killed,) is of a highly interesting character. It was performed by Messrs Ellis, Thurston, Stewart, Bishop, and Goodrich. 'The Journal was drawn up by Mr Ellis, from minutes kept by himself, and by his associates on the tour, who subsequently gave it their approbation.' These gentlemen enjoyed the best opportunity for observing the habits of the people, their modes of living, and moral condition, and also the physical structure, and the natural productions of the island. In all these respects the information contained in this Journal is novel, and will be highly gratifying both to the inquisitive and benevolent reader, who loves to contemplate the works of the Creator in all their variety, and to witness the efforts of philanthropic men for the improvement of the human race. In a future number we shall recur again to this 'Journal,' and speak more at large of its contents, and the curious topics they suggest.

PERIODICAL WORKS.

The following list of periodical works is given, without presuming that it is in any degree perfect. In the theological and miscellaneous departments, in particular, it is unquestionably defective. It is such, however, as our means have enabled us to collect. A similar list will be occasionally inserted, and the only mode of insuring completeness will be for publishers to forward the titles and conditions of their works.

WORKS PROPOSED.

LEMUEL BLAKE and SAMUEL H. PARKER, propose to publish in Boston, by Subscription, THE MOST APPROVED TRANSLATIONS OF THE ANCIENT CLASSICS. In neat and uniform Octavo Editions. The price to Subscribers will be only one dollar and fifty cents per volume, neatly done up in marbled boards, with hollow backs.

In many instances the number of volumes will be less than the English Editions, reducing the price to about one third of the cost of the English copies in this country.

This project deserves encouragement. A uniform edition of a Translation of the Classics is a desideratum in this country. The English editions are costly, and many works not easily to be obtained. The publishers have selected a few works with which to make the experiment. Could they be sure of success, it would doubtless be the best plan to publish the different classes of authors in connexion; that is, the Historians, Poets, Orators, Philosophers, &c. Such an attempt, perhaps, would have but a limited success, and in that case it will be more for the interest of the publishers to pursue their proposed course, and select the most popular authors. The exceedingly low price at which they offer the work is worthy of notice. Parker's handsome edition of the Waverley Novels is mentioned by the Publishers, as a specimen of the type and paper.

CAREY & LEA, propose publishing by subscription in Philadelphia a NEW WORK, to be entitled, AMERICAN BIOGRAPHY, or HISTORICAL DICTIONARY OF EMINENT AMERICANS. By ROBERT WALSH, JR.

JOHN DOGGETT & Co. BOSTON, have now in publication, LITHOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS of WASHINGTON, ADAMS, JEFFERSON, MADISON, MONROE, and ADAMS.

ORIGINAL PICTURES of five of these distinguished personages from the pencil of STUART are now in the possession of J. Doggett & Co. They have lately been returned from FRANCE, where they have been correctly copied on Stone by Monsieur MAURIN, an eminent Lithographer of PARIS. The Lithographic Press and Stones are imported, and impressions are to be taken here, for Subscribers.

The plan of the Publishers is to furnish a beautiful and correct Lithographic Portrait of each PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, produced by the united efforts of the best artists in Europe and America. The Portrait of the present President will be furnished in the same style with those exhibited.

The price to Subscribers for the series will be Two Dollars for each Print. When India Paper is used, an additional charge of fifty cents on each will be made.

These portraits are acknowledged to be among the best specimen's of lithographic art, which have ever been executed. The likenesses are copied with great fidelity from Stuart's paintings, and are allowed to be conveyed with accuracy and spirit. The proprietors have been at a good deal of trouble and expense in sending the paintings to Paris, and procuring the lithographic drawings, and it cannot be doubted that they will meet with a liberal patronage from the public. Independently of the associations connected with the portraits themselves, they present most striking examples of the high degree of perfection to which an art is brought, that has been discovered within the memory of many still living, and till very recently confined to the ruder branches of sketching and drawing.

IN PRESS,

And will soon be published, SOME ACCOUNT of the LIFE, WRITINGS, and SPEECHES of WILLIAM PINKNEY. By HENRY WHEATON.

This work will include some of Mr Pinkney's Speeches in Congress and at the Bar, never before published; his Written Opinions delivered at the Board of Commissioners in London under the British Treaty of 1794; and his private Correspondence with Mr Madison, Mr Monroe, and others, during his Residence in England, Naples, and Russia, as Minister of the United States.

Also in Press, SKETCHES POLITICAL and HISTORICAL of ALGIERS; containing an Account of the Geography, Population, Government, Revenues, Commerce, Agriculture, Arts, Civil Institutions, Tribes, Manners, Languages, and Recent Political Events of that Country. By WILLIAM SHALER, American Consul General at Algiers.

A review of Mr Verplanck's 'Essay on the Doctrine of Contracts' came too late for the present number. It will appear in our next.
